MONDAY, DEC. 18, 1875.

NEW PLAN OF LIFE INSURANCE-AD agency for a new kind of an insurance company has been established at Parkersborg. It is something on the plan of the Railroad Conductors' Association, vin.: an assessment every time a member dies on the whole membership of so much per board of Public Works, was indefinitely company has been established at Parkershead. The difference is that there are postponed.

H. B 274, authorizing payment to W. P. three grades of risks, viz. persons be-30 and 35, those between 35 and House w 50, and those between 50 and 60. The company proposes to furnish insurance at cost to these several classes. The expenses of the company are provided for by a membership fee of an annual due. Thus, if a man between 20 and 35 takes out a risk, the cost is $7 on $1,000 of insurance, but he is only required to pay an annual due of $2 unless the death of member calls for more. The reserve of $5 (the balance of the $7) he is allowed to keep in his own hands.

This plan would seem to have merit Some persons will object that the company has no security for the collection of its assessments. That may be, but so neither has the Conductors Association, and other similar associations, and yet as a matter of fact the members of these associations do pay up, and for the reason that if they do not respond within a given time they are cut off and cease to be insured. This is a great incentive to every member to pay up.

This "Mutual Protection" Company claims that the old companies charge too much, far more than they need if their risks were properly classified. Their theory is that the business can be classified down to a safe basis by taking good risks at a low price and allow every man to use his reserve in his business.

Ban as is the average of school attendance in this country, on account of the backwardness of the South, yet that of England is no better, according to the latest report of the British educational department. The effect of Mr. Forster's national school act has been, during the four years in which it has been in force, to increase the school seats from 1,765,000 to 2,871,000, but the average attendance i has only increased from 1,225,000 to 1,725,000 pupils, out of 4,500,000 children who ought to be at school. This is almost exactly the ratio of schooled to un-schooled in this whole country, negroes and all. English public men just be-gin to realize the difficulty of accomplishing in a moment or in a single decade what in our Northern States we have only arrived at by generations of patient endeavor and annual contribution. The indications are that there will be no back tracks in England, Cross, the tory home secretary, having expressed himself in a speech as emphatically in accord with Forster and the friends of the secular schools. The present system will probably be extended to the country districts, more efficiency will be given to the provisions compelling attendance, the clergy will have less power to obstruct the establishment of non-sectarian schools, and it is not improbable that the American ides, of free school supported entirely by taxation, which has made so profound an impression on Lord Russell, will be
